Presents The

CLARION

A Word . . .

In submitting this year book to the University High school the staff proffers no apologies. Indeed, we have been glad to attempt the problem of publishing and editing a book even though limited was the financial wherewithal. We feel that we have selected and presented material that includes the broadest scope of our high school life.

But had it not been for the willingness on the part of our administrators and sponsors; for the considerate cooperation of the Hawkins Photo Shop, the Kane Engraving company, the Stappenback bookbinding firm, and the State Normal industrial arts department print shop, this annual would not have been.

To all those concerned, our sincere gratitude.

. . . . The Staff

Volume Eight, Nineteen Thirty-Six

The Clarion Staff

The Clarion Staff of 1935-36 was composed entirely of seniors. Contrary to the usual method of choosing two juniors, one sophomore, and one freshman to assist, the staff resorted to the senior class alone for material and write-ups.

Under the general directions of George L. Scott, the student adviser from the University, and Miss Ruth V. Yates, the Staff worked long, hard, and diligently.

Charles Harper was appointed as editor with Richard Dunn as his assistant. The art work, page layouts and cover design were turned over to Vincent Hare, the art editor, and to his assistant, Joan Elmore.

Miss Betty Boulton was appointed as the literary editor, and to her was intrusted the important task of writing and securing copy. Betty was ably assisted by Rhoda Van Huss. Russel McBride and Robert Herr aided Betty with the sport section of the annual. And last, but certainly not least, the important position of business manager was undertaken by Charles Mercier.

Contracts were drawn up with the Kane Engraving company in Bloomington, who took care of all engraving in the Clarion; with Stappenback, to whom the binding job was given; and with the Hawkins Photo Shop (also of Bloomington). Hawkins took the majority of the senior pictures and the entire lot of group and activity pictures of the high school.

The staff wishes to acknowledge their appreciation to the under classmen who contributed to the book.

Dedication

THE dedication of the University high school annual presents but one difficulty: the selection of one person from our school group. All are deserving. However, we believe that the man who has headed University High during this past school year has the admiration and friendship of every person connected with our school. He has made us realize that his pleasant sincerity has become a part of our lives. Our dedication is to Dr. S. A. Hamrin, principal of University high school.

IF THERE is one group within the university system that could claim the motto, "Intimate contact with high school students," that group would be the student teachers. Pursuing and furthering their professional status, advanced students in the diverse departments of the two and four-year curricula, under the supervision of the high school critic teachers and administration, conduct and plan classroom activities of the University high school students. Indeed, the student teacher has activities other than the classroom proper. He is availed of the privilege of participating in the scheduling of many extra-class activities. Language clubs, literary and forensic societies, dramatic organizations and productions, science groups, group activitiy designed to develop a knowledge and an enjoyment of playground sports, all offer actual instruction experience to the collegiate teacher within his or her particular field. From the student teachers' point of departure this feature of the university life is singular.

But it is no less so to the high school students. With such a set-up of pedagogy the student in the classroom is offered many different interpretations of subject matter; enabled to receive the more advanced methods of presenting and emphasizing a subject. Teaching is a matter of personal relationship, both on the part of the teacher and the student; and it is the vigor and interest on the part of the student teaching group that enables them to further and promote that type of relationship.

But that vigor and interest without the guidance of the respective critic supervisors would often run amiss. And this student teaching group is more than indebted to the true shapers of Universiy high school subject and pleasure matter,—the critic teachers and school administrators.

FOUR years ago we entered these portals for the first time, with high hopes for the future in U. High. In spite of freshman stupidity, we were leading the school in scholastic standing by the end of the first term.

In October we held our first class party. Then again in January we staged an "all school dance" which was a very successful undertaking. And then came our crowning achievement of the year,—the "Freshmen" Assembly. Our own Tommy Carter sang for the first and last time "The Lullaby of the Leaves."

With Richard Dunn as class president, our activities for the Sophomore year were few but very successful. On November third we held a wiener roast,—remember? On January 19 we held our class party in the Women's Gym.

Soon we found ourselves flightly Juniors, ready to carry out the most outstanding year in our school career. Tommy Carter was our president.

Our first success was the Junior play, "American, Very Early," directed by Miss Allen and Miss Fisher. Then came the history-making ceremony of the rings,—may our memories never fail us in that respect.

Remember the question of the Junior-Senior Banquet and how when no funds were appropriated for it we stepped forward and inaugurated the Junior Circus? Remember the feeling of pride and elation we had when we found we had gone "over the top" and made enough to give the traditional Junior-Senior banquet?

This was held in the spring and was the greatest achievement of our high school career.

And now,—into the last year, our Senior year. We're the mighty Seniors, the "all-important."

Early in November we inaugurated the social season with our homecoming welcome dance to new teachers and Dr. Hamrin. Then in the late fall we presented the annual Senior assembly, and in the spring the Senior play, "The Youngest."

But before we step from the life of U. High and end forever this history of the Class of 1936 of University High School, we wish to extend our sincerest appreciation and gratitude for friendship and never-ending loyalty to Miss McAvoy.

Good bye!

THE Junior class of University High School enjoyed a fine year with Andrew Peterson serving as president; Betty Lou Marcus, vice-president; Roger Stauffer, secretary; and Edwin Jackson, treasurer. Miss Mary Webb is our sponsor.

The first activity of the year was the wiener roast which was held at Forest Park in the fall. There was plenty of food for everyone, and after eating we engaged in a good old-fashioned sing around the bright fire.

Next on the activity list was the class play, "Little Women." The whole class took an active interest in the play, working well on committees which was a big asset in making the play a success.

The third big event of the year was the Junior Circus which with the co-operation of the whole school was an event that we were all proud of. Our queen was Edith Anders with Alice Goodier, Ellen Sorrenson, Betty Lou Marcus, and Dorothy Ann Taylor serving as ladies-in-waiting. The juniors adopted as their mascot Joan Mercier, who made her first appearance at the circus.

The last and perhaps the most looked forward to event was the annual Junior-Senior Banquet held at Maplewood Country Club. The decorations were quite spectacular in their "Blossom Time" theme. The banquet was well handled by those who gave generously of their time and talent.

In other activities the juniors also took prominent parts. There were many juniors in girls' sports as well as in boys' sports, and John Blum was chosen captain of next year's basketball team. Many members of the band, orchestra, and glee club were juniors, helping the girls' glee club bring laurels to U. High in the music contest held this spring. Juniors' names have appeared frequently on the scholarship and attendance honor rolls. For these various reasons we feel that the juniors have had a successful year and have co-operated well in making it a successful year for U. High.

OUR second year in University High School has come to a close. We are proud of the contributions we have made to the academic and social activities of U. High this year.

At the first class meeting the following class officers were elected: President, Reed Yates; Vice President and Secretary, Dick Anderson; and Windell Crumbaugh, treasurer. Reed Yates also represented the class on the student council.

In the fall we entertained the students and faculty members at a dance in Old Castle gymnasium. Again on March 13th the class sponsored an all-school masquerade dance in honor of the Irish patriot, St. Patrick. Betty Lou Marcus and Eugene Keltner were awarded prizes for the most original and clever costumes.

The sophomore class has been well represented in many of the extra-curricular clubs. We wish to mention Marion Ireland particularly who represented our school as soprano soloist in the High School Music and Literary Contests. A number of Sophomore girls were also members of the Girls' Chorus which won the Class "B" banner in the district contest. Our class has been active in the Dramatic club, the Home Economics club, the Science club, G. A. A., and Thalian Debating soiety.

We are all looking forward to two more years together in U. High and hope they may be as enjoyable as this one has been.

FRESHMEN whose high school careers began in the fall of 1935 have enjoyed a delightful season. Eddie Clevenger was the first class president, but because of his transfer Charles Morney filled the unexpired term. The vice-presidency was filled by Richard Guritz. Recording the minutes was the duty of Marianne Fearheiley, secretary; Joe Poplawski was the treasurer. Miss Gertrude Stephens, supervising teacher in history was the class sponser.

The first social event of the year was the annual freshman fall party held in the gymnasium at the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Childrens School. Hallow'een decorations provided the theme of the ocasion. Games were played, music for dancing was furnished by the Petarde family, and a floor show was given at the intermission. Refreshments were served in keeping with the harvest time spirit.

Dr. and Mrs. Hamrin and Mr. and Mrs. Ivens were guests of the freshmen group at a spring party held in April in the Old Castle. Radio music was provided for dancing and the climax to an enjoyable evening came when lunch was served.

All freshmen were included when the three community problems classes held a noon picnic in Sherwood Forest. Miss Bernice Tucker and Miss Helen Marshall were the instructors who sponsored the occasion.

THE Green and Gold opened its thirty-fifth football season under the direction of Mr. Edwin Struck, new high school athletic coach. Co-captains Coale and McClure piloted the team.

The football boys encountered some of the toughest teams in Central Illinois this year. Teams such as Hoopeston, one of the best teams in eastern Illinois; Routt, the tough Irish aggregation from Jacksonville; and Pekin, who finished second in the Big Twelve, will not be forgotten. Orville Gross, Clarence Morgan, and Thomas Weal, lettermen from last year's squad, were lost because of transfer.

Blum was U. High's best ground gainer, while Bob Pierson was a big threat in the line plunging role until he was injured. Hubbard and Co-Captain McClure were two tackles which opposing teams found hard to move. The work of these boys in the Trinity game is not to be forgotten. Co-Captain Coale, Walston, and Guritz took care of the end positions in great style, while Hallam and Harper are two other boys who starred in the forward wall. All of the men on this year's squad deserve praise, and it can safely be said that every member of the team gave his best.

Seniors on this year's squad were: McClure, Coale, Walston, Mercier, Harper, and Stephens. With such men returning as Blum, Yates, Hallam, Hubbard, Guritz, and Poplawski, next year's team should be successful.

When they outfought and outplayed the strong Trinity eleven the Struckmen were at their best. U. High had the edge on first downs in this game by a twelve to six count. It was a season of ups and downs, with the Green and Gold losing seven and winning one.

Dear Clyde:-

Have enjoyed having you in football, basketball and class. Gave a pretty nice boy taking everything into consideration.

WINNING 20 and dropping but six games the U. High Cagers had an exceptionally good season on the hardwood this winter. To have a good basketball season two things are necessary: a good team and a good coach. This year U. High had both. With but four lettermen returning (Blum, E. Mercier, Harper and Herr) Coach Struck started the season with just a mediocre ball club, but welded together a powerful machine which soon started to click and develop into an above average team. The first five this year consisted of Blum, Harper, E. Mercier, Stauffer, and Capt. Herr. Charles Mercier was another boy who played in nearly every game and nearly always managed to score. Other boys who played first-team ball when given the chance were Naumann, Hubbard, Pierson, Erdman and Coale.

Early victims of the "Cyclones" were Farmer City, Clinton, and Monticello. During the Christmas holidays the Green and Gold participated in the B.H.S. tournament and after bumping off the heavily touted Havana Ducks in the first round, they scored 38 points against the strong Peoria Central five, but fell short 8 points of winning. They later saw Peoria win the tournament by defeating Bloomington.

After revenging last year's tournament set back with a 32-23 win over El Paso the Struckmen dropped a hard fought 14-17 game to Bloomington in the Inter-city opener.

Basketball Squad

Season's Summary

At the start of the season only 17 games were scheduled but Coach Struck called an overnight trip to Collinsville and after a very close affair, they puffed out of town with a 21-18 victory in the bag, much to the glee of Mr. Struck as this was his former coaching post.

As tournament time rolled around the Green Wave from U. High found they were the second best team in the Inter-City winning 3 and losing 3 games. Bloomington seemed to be the only team to hold a jinx over the Green and Gold beating them three times. Victories over Havana, Clinton, Normal, Trinity, Lexington, and Collinsville, one of the best teams down state, were also milestones in the history of basketball for U. High this year.

In the first game of the Regional tournament, which started the big parade to Champaign and the state finals, U. High romped on Cooksville 51-19. They next blasted the minute men from Lexington off the court to the tune of 31-19, but lost to B. H. S. in the finals. Both teams went to the sectional and after defeating their old friends from El Paso in the opener, the Green and Gold closed their books for the year with a 43-31 defeat at the hands of the Hilltoppers from Mt. Pulaski who won the tournament and placed fourth in the state.

THE U. High nine started the baseball season with a bang when they won decisive victories over Atlanta and Colfax. With five members of last year's nine returning, Coach Douglass looked forward to another banner season for his mighty swatters.

The regulars that returned were John Blum, Roger Stauffer, Capt. Bob Stephens, George Petty and Gordon Cushman.

Coach Douglass presented a strong starting lineup consisting of Harper, Stauffer, Naumann, Blum, Rossiter, Captain Stephens, Petty and Chuck Miller.

The pitching staff consisting of Walston, Miller, Guritz had good prospects for a good season on the hillock. Dick Guritz, the big left-handed twirler showed many promising signs of developing into one of the best flingers U. High has had in quite some time.

Season's Summary

We found Charley Harper cast in the new role as catcher for the U. High nine. At the first of the season, Charley was a little wild, but he gradually settled down and did a competent piece of receiving.

The prospects for next season look mighty fine with only five men lost. Those who are leaving are, Capt. Bob Stephens, Harper, Petty, Cushman, and Walston. With only this small loss and with a number of underclassmen waiting eargerly to break into the lineup, the prospects for the future are very promising.

The schedule for the U. High nine consisted of 13 scheduled games and two probable games.

April 28	Atlanta	Here	May 13	Cooksville	There
April 28	Colfax	There	May 15	Colfax	Here
May 5	Bloomington	Here	May 19	Heyworth	There

May 11	Normal	There	May 30	Trinity	Here

THE U. High thinlies inaugurated their track season with a practice with Normal High. Although Normal won 82-36, Coach Struck had a chance to see his men perform and get an idea concerning the prospects for the year.

Captain Dean McClure, Dick Hallam, John Keltner, Harold Hubbard, Ernest Lawrence, and William Staker were the returning lettermen. Horace Wells, Melvin Rossiter, Schneeberger and Shields ar the other boys who were on the squad.

Track Squad

Season's Summary

The schedule for the thinclads was camparatively light, with only six meets on their card. The meets were as follows: Normal; the triangular-meet at El Paso between Normal, U. High and El Paso; Leroy; the district meet at Pekin; and the Intercity meet.

Although the squad as a whole was not very strong, Coach Struck was the possessor of one of the finest milers in central Illinois, John Keltner. John defeated his old rival, Gene Foster from Normal High. This alone would be a good season for anyone. John will be excellent material for some college and his followers may expect many great things from him.

Capt. Dean McClure proved to be quite a discus tosser, winning many points for U. High, while Roger Shields copped several prizes in the javelin.

The prospects for next season are very promising with only Capt. McClure, Keltner, and Shields graduating. This will weaken the team in the field events and Keltner will be very much missed in the mile run. But with such prospcts as Hubbard, Lawrence, and Anderson, Coach Struck is hopeful of upsetting many of the big boys next year.

UNDER the direction of Miss Katherine Thielen, high school physical education teacher, the Girls' Athletic Association enjoyed another successful year. The weather was ideal for sports. All activities were well attended by upper-classmen, accompanied by many freshmen aspirants.

Two play-days were participated in by the girl athletes. In the fall a meet was held at Pekin, and during the spring the home girls played host to a group of "play-dayers."

The permanent board of the society consisted of Mildred Jacquat, president; Lois Fuller, vice-president; Bonnie Meers, secretary; Nettie Graves, treasurer; Betty Lou Marcus, point secretary; and Harriet Jacquat, head of training rules. The heads of the sports were as follows: hockey, Dorothea Gravitt; soccer, Betty Hamilton; basketball, Vivian Stubbs; bowling, Harriet Jacquat; volley ball, Betty Hamilton; baseball, Harriet Jacquat; tennis, Mdeline Blakeman; archery, Betty Lou Marcus.

Girl's Athletics

Girl's Athletics

A very exciting hockey game was played in October. The varsity team defeated the Alumni 2-0 in an encounter packed with thrills. Members of the varsity team were: Elizabeth Ratcliffe, Mildred Kerr, Nettie Graves, Betty Lou Marcus, Betty Scott, Harriet Jacquat, Lois Fuller, Dorothea Gravitt, Betty Hamilton, Margaret Stover, Vallona Mae Ramsey, and Mildred Jacquat.

For the assembly program on January 17, the girls presented a "Major Bowes Amateur Hour" with Margaret Stover impersonating the Major.

G. A. A. was "knock-off its pins" when Nettie Graves acquired a bowling score of 182. Mildred Jacquat placed second with a score of 165.

Awards were presented to all girls who earned them. A sportsmanship cup was given to the outstanding G. A. A. member. Three girls, Mildred Jacquat, Nettie Graves, and Elizabeth Ratcliffe, received the highest award—a state emblem. The "U"—The second local award—was presented to Lois Fuller, and Betty Lou Marcus. Dorothea Gravitt, Mildred Kerr, Harriet Jacquat, Betty Hamilton, Esther Deaton, Betty Scott, Vivian Stubbs, and Mae Ramsey earned their first local award, the numeral.

Student Council

In the second year of its existence the Student Council of University high school enjoyed a busy and profitable time under the able leadership of Richard Dunn. The other officers for the year were John Keltner, vice-president; Elizabeth Ratcliffe, secretary; and Robert Stephens, treasurer. The other eight members of the organization were elected, one from each home room. The two senior members were Charles Harper and Charles Mercier. Those representing the junior class were Ernest Ellison and Roger Stauffer. The sophomores elected Wendall Crumbaugh and Reed Yates while Charles Mauney and Clyde Landis were the members chosen from the freshman class.

The standing committees for the year were the assembly program committee and the apportionment board. Charles Harper, Reed Yates, and John Keltner were appointed to serve on the assembly program. Robert Stephens, Richard Dunn, and Roger Stauffer were the members of the apportionment board.

The council started the year by sponsoring U. High's homecoming early in the fall. At Christmas time they gave a Christmas party for the students and faculty. Near the middle of the second semester they brought the Vera Pearl Kemp ensemble to the assembly, much to the enjoyment of the students. Later the council had charge of an awards assembly in which awards were presented to worthy students. The organization closed the year by giving a farewell party to the seniors in the school. The money left in the treasury was given to the school for the purpose of building a large trophy case to be used in place of the many small ones now in the study hall.

Miss Webb and Mr. Ivens capably assisted the council in its various activities.

As a committee from the student council, the Athletic Board consisted of one representatives from each of the three upper classes, a faculty manager, who was appointed by the principal, the athletic director, the principal of the high school, and the director of girls' athletics. The members, this year were: Coach Struck, Mr. Ivens, Dr. Hamrin, Miss Thielen, Robert Stehens, John Blum, and Joe Bunting.

It was the business of this board to regulate all problems having to do with athletics of any kind that involved the school. The eligibility of students was also determined by this group, and after each season they approved the list of people who were to receive letters in the various sports.

THE Walter Dill Scott chapter of The National Honor Society carried on the activities of the year with the able assistance of Dr. S. A. Hamrin. Richard Dunn served as president and was assisted by Charles Mercier, vice-president, and Robert Stephens, secretary-treasurer.

The first outstanding event of the year was the initiation ceremony for new members held in assembly at which Dean Schroeder of the University faculty talked. At a second initiation of new members the talk was given by Professor Hodgens of the speech department of Illinois Wesleyan University. After this service the group held a luncheon at Tilden Hall for the initiates.

The National Honor Society of Normal Community High School invited the Walter Dill Scott chapter to an initiation service at Community High at which Dr. Hamrin gave the talk.

The Honor Society had charge of arrangements for the spring "Open House" and for "Freshmen Day."

The year's activities closed with the annual spring banquet held at Hotel Tilden Hall on June fifth.

PUBLISHED bi-weekly, the Clarionette, the high school newspaper made its history for the second year. Regular issues were four pages. Two editions containing eight pages were supplemented with literary editions. For the first time a special issue was given to the students on April Fool's Day which was filled with foolishness and nonsense.

News pertaining to the coming events of the school activities were on the first page. Editorials, columns, and literary material could be found on the second page. Boys and girls sports were taken care of on page three, and on the fourth page interviews, columns, and further news stories were found.

The first semester journalism class, taught by Miss Ruth V. Yates, assisted by Miss Dorothy Henneke, elected Betty Boulton editor-in-chief. The following staff was appointed: associate editors, Charles Harper, Richard Dunn, Ben Hiltabrand; desk editor, Elizabeth Radcliffe; sports editor, Robert Herr; feature editor, Gordon Cushman, Don Baker, John Keltner; exchange editors, Claudine Berthlett, Minnie Rachac; girls sports editors, Mildred Jacquat, Nettie Graves; columnist Russ McBride, Tommy Carter, Eldon Smith, Robert Armstrong, George Brinegar; society editor, Dorothy Brockhouse; organization editors, Herbert Riley, Andrew Washburn, Charles Powell; literary editor, Mildred Fuller; circulation manager, Joe Kimble.

Second semester journalism students acted as news reporters while several members of the former staff remained. Ida Steele, Edson Mercier, Howard Botsfield, Robert Smith Fred Naumann, Maurice Condon, and Vincent Hare were the reporters, and Mr. John Weldon was the student adviser.

MEETING on the first and third Tuesday of each school month, the University High School Press Club was reorganized in the fall of 1935. The officers elected to preside for the year were: Elizabeth Ratcliffe, president; Lois Fuller, vice-president; and Elmer Lokkins, secretary-treasurer. Miss Ruth V. Yates, supervising teacher in journalism, was chosen as adviser with Miss Dorothy Henneke and Mr. G. L. Scott assisting.

The main objectives of the Club were to create interest in journalism and to print a newspaper and year book for the high school students. The requirements for becoming a member are to have two articles written by the applicant, which are printed in the school paper.

At one of the regular meetings Mrs. Brindley, of the Pantagraph staff, spoke about her personal experiences in the field of journalism. In November two delegates, Charles Harper, editor of the Clarion, and Betty Boulton, editor of the Clarionette, were sent to the Illinois High School Press Conference, held in Champaign.

On December fourth the members enjoyed a turkey dinner at the home of Betty Boulton. The evening was spent in games and music, also reports were given by the conference delegates.

During the winter a visit was made to the Kane Engraving Company. A similar trip was made to the new Pantagraph building in Bloomington. Both trips were of much interest and lasting value to the entire group.

THE first dramatic production of the school year was Marion DeForest's version of Alcott's play "Little Women" presented in Capen Auditorium November 15, 1935, by the Junior Class. Miss Ruth V. Yates, supervising teacher in journalism and speech, was the director assisted by Miss Virginia Abbott, a senior in the University.

Consisting of twelve characters, the cast included five boys and seven girls. The cast was as follows: Meg, Betty Scott; Jo, Dorothy Ann Taylor; Beth, Ellen Sorrenson; Amy, Miriam Wierman; Mrs. March, Lois Fuller; Hannah Mullett, Margaret Stover; John Brooke, Merlin Erdman; Laurie, James Turner; Mr. Laurence, Tony Jennings; Aunt March, Margaret Barret; Mr. March, William Staker; Professor Bhaer, John Blum.

Jo, Amy, Beth, and Meg are the center of attraction throughout the play. The many hardships caused by the Civil War were shown very clearly in the characteristic setting of the 1860's. Along with the hardships there are the perfect love affairs of the three March girls: Jo, Meg, and Amy. Laurie, a born tease; John Brooke, a quiet, kindly, home-loving man; Professor Frederick Bhaer, the type of man one could trust at once and children would adore; these men are the three suitors of the girls.

Junior Play

"Little Women"

The home ties of the March family could not be complete without mention of "Marmee," Hannah, and Aunt March. "Marmee" or Mrs. March was dearly loved by her daughters and husband. Accustomed to the ruling of the home, the March girls shared ther household joys and sorrows with the faithful and devoted servant, Hannah Mullett. The family circle was furnished many laughs by Aunt March, as everything about her suggested that she denied herself nothing.

All the other juniors helped with the production by serving on various committees. Clifford Scott, a University student, assisted by Russel Sizemore and Harold Hubbard made up the staging committee. The costume committee members were: Katherine Morgan, I. S. N. U. student, Betty Lou Marcus, and Maxine Brining. Tony Jennings, Margaret Stover, and two University students, Nancy Raisbeck and Herman Stoltz, were members of the properties committee. The publicity committee was Miriam Wierman, Charlotte Selders, Harold Hubbard, and Billy Hill.

On May 22, in Capen Auditorium, "The Youngest," a comedy of Philip Barry's, was presented by the Senior Class under the direction of Miss Ruth Yates.

This is a gay, friendly, and brilliant American comedy. It combines the charming dialogue and the interesting characterizations of all of Philip Barry's plays. The excellent acting made it a performance worthy of merit.

The play allows us within the home circle of the Winslow family. Richard Winslow, played by Charles Mercier, finds that being "the youngest" and misunderstood is rather a deplorable state in which to find oneself. He wants to be free to live his own life as he sees fit. Previously Richard has tried to break away, to go off by himself to follow his urge to write, but each time the family "closes the family purse" and he is forced to return. John Keltner, as Oliver, makes us fairly writhe with his smugness and continual nagging at Richard who refuses to go to work in the pin manufacturing company, which was founded by great-grandfather Winslow, one of the foremost citizens of the town in an early day. Richard Dunn in the role of Mark makes himself equally annoying by his superior and supercillious manner toward Richard. Quarrels are brought on by cynical Augusta (Joan Elmore) who is still living in the Winslow home with her husband Alan Martin (Charles Lokkins) because they cannot find a home suitable to Augusta's tastes. Clever "Muff" played by Betty Boulton, and Rhoda Van Huss as amenable Mrs. Winslow, are sympathetic with Richard, but in the face of the rest of the family's dominance they have little chance to show kindness to him. It is into this scene of "domestic bliss" that Nancy Blake (Elizabeth Ratcliffe) arrives. She recognizes the plight of Richard and understands his hatred for the materialistic viewpoint of the rest of the family. Moreover, Nancy has a theory that people turn out to be the sort of creatures they are treated as. "Treat a mouse like a lion and he'll grow a mane over night," she says.

This is a chance to apply her theory and so on a bet with Muff, she sets about to make Richard over in a week. This she succeeds in doing so well that by the end of the week Richard has the rest of the family fairly "eating from his hand." However, Nancy has applied her theory so effectively that she suddenly finds herself in love with her victim. Now it is Richard who finally decides to make Nancy his equal and so asks her to marry him.

Dramatic Clubs

For some time, there has been a need for an organized group in our high school to unify the various dramatic activities. As a result of this demand two clubs were organized in February this year under the leadership of Miss Ruth Yates, critic teacher in speech. Two groups were formed rather than just one so that it would be possible for more students to take an active part in plays and programs.

The Freshman-Sophomore group met the last Tuesday in every month. The officers of the club were: Tom Stombaugh, president; Mary Ann Bankert, vice-president; Mary Demetrulias, costume chairman; and Eugene Keltner, stage manager. These meetings have been devoted to a brief study of pantomine and voice improvement needed for various types of characterization. In April, a cast chosen from the group presented a one-act play, "Joint Owners in Spain" by Alice Brown for an assembly program. The play was repeated on May 8 for the entertainment of the students from the Junior High Schools of the community who were guests of University High School that day. Members of the cast were, Vallona Mae Ramsey, Doris Thompson, Barbara Orr, and Opal Greeson. The play was directed by Miss Maurine Blum, a student director from the University.

The Junior-Senior group set aside the first Tuesday of the month for their meetings. The officers elected were: Rhoda Van Huss, president; John Keltner, vice-president; Ellen Sorrenson, secretary; Roger Shields, property chairman; Tony Jennings, stage manager; and Margaret Parret, costume chairman. After a time it is hoped that members of this group will be able to take charge of the direction of plays and will gain experience in this way as well as acting and production. This year a cast from this club was chosen to represent the school in the one-act play contest sponsored by the Illinois High School Speech League. They presented Paul Green's "The Last of the Lowries." In the cast were Rhoda Van Huss, Dorothy Ann Taylor, Margaret Parret and James Turner. Their was selected as one of the three best in the sub-district contest held at I. S. N. U., March 20. This entitled them to enter their play in the district contest also held at I. S. N. U., March 27.

Ont of the purposes of the dramatic clubs is to foster community contacts. In answer to this need, programs and plays have been presented to various groups. The evening of repeatedMay 27, the cast of the "The Last of the Lowries" presented the play at the Western Avenue Community Center in Bloomington. On April 23, they repeated the play at a meeting of the New Home Club at the Methodist Church in Normal.

Although the clubs are new, the members feel that they have made definite steps toward unifying and thus furthering dramatic activities in U. High. We are looking forward to pleasurable and worthwhile activities in these clubs next year.

MEDALS, trophies, ribbons,and banners have not been annexed by the University high school boys' glee club. It cannot flaunt a state-wide fame; but it can surely claim many pleasurable rehearsals and performances for its active members. The reason for its being is to afford a means of personal pleasure for the concerned students.

Meeting every Wednesday and Friday afternoons, with Miss Margaret Westhoff as sponsor, and C. Worthington Webb as student director, the boys worked out a quite competent singing routine during the first semester. Nor did this effect lag when, during the second school session, Dale Miller replaced Mr. Webb as student director.

The male songsters made their initial appearance this year before the student body during one of the first assemblies of the fall term. Later in the term this group entertained the Parent-Teacher's association of Normal. They had a role in the production of the Christmas Cantata, one of the main musical assemblages in the high school year. Their first appearance in the new year was in singing before the district meet of the P.W.A., the event being staged in the new gymnasium. In addition to these off-the-campus presentations, the group has entertained at numerous minor school affairs.

The membership is not great in quantity; but in such an organization it is the quality of work and the willingness to find the worth of group singing. All concerned have enjoyed participation thoroughly.

UNDER the direction of Miss Margaret Westhoff, the girls' glee club was much pleased with the progress made this year.

The first appearance of the club for the year was a program given in assembly early in the fall. Then on Sunday, December 15, a Christmas Cantata, "The Angel and the Star" by Ira Wilson, was presented to which the public was invited. Special numbers were sung by Dorothy Ann Taylor, Kathleen Knowles, and Marian Ireland. Accompaniement was furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of Mr. Dvorak.

The Glee Club entered the annual contests, rating in the first group in both the subdistrict, held at Normal Community High School, and the district held at Illinois State Normal University, in April. With the help ofMarion Ireland, a sophomore, who placed in the soprano solo group, the club won a Class B banner in the district contest. The state meet was held May 1 at Illinois State Normal University, but the competition of the fifteen other schools entered was too keen and the club was rated in the third group.

At one of the Parent-Teacher's meetings during the winter the girls gave a musical program, and aslo sang at Western Avenue community center for one of the "family night" programs.

With a large measue of credit due Miss Westhoff, the girls feel they have had a successful year.

UNDER the direction of Mr. Leo Dvorak, supervising instrumental music teacher in University high school, the band has made considerable progress. There is a well divided instrumentation among the forty-two members. Such instruments as a flute, oboe, E flat clarinet, tenor saxophone and alto horns make for a well-balanced group.

The musicians played for many home basketball games this year. During the district tournament at Normal Community High School, they were asked to entertain the spectators at the semi-finals. Entertaining the student body by appearing on several assembly programs, was another function performed by the band. Music was provided for the second annual junior circus by this group of music-makers. During this appearance, Robert Dunn, the flute player, was the conductor. Providing syncopation for the visitors at the Open House, May 13, was assigned to the band.

The players wore white shirts and black ties which was a unifying factor in the appearance of the group. It is hoped in the near future, because of the rapid progress of the band, it will have regular uniforms.

Misses Mary Rae Williams and Minnie Kelly were student directors first semester while Ray Miller, University student, conducted the activities of the band during the second period.

High School Band

and Orchestra

INCREASING in number to forty-four members, the University High School Orchestra has made marked improvement. The group was under the direction of Mr. Leo Dvorak, assisted by Mr. C. W. Webb and Misses Eleanor Gamer and Virginia Steiner.

Many violins have been built around the nucleus that was formed last year under the leadership of Miss Emma Knudson, music instructor in the University. Among the other instruments added to the orchestra were: two bass violins, a viola, two cellos, French horn, oboe, flute and alto saxophone.

During the year the orchestra made several appearances. They entertained the student body by furnishing music for two assembly programs. Accompaniment was played by these musicians for the Christmas Cantata presented by the Girls' Glee Club under the direction of Miss Margaret Westhoff. In the fall the orchestra entertained patrons attending the joint Parent-Teachers' meeting held at Normal Community High School. Music was played between acts of the annual junior and senior plays by these music-makers. Parents and visitors attending the second annual Open House on May 13, enjoyed hearing the music, furnished by this organization. The orchestra entertained at one of the "family nights" held at Western Avenue Church, and to close a successful year, they provided music for the graduation exercises held June 9.

Recently an ensemble has been formed which expects to make rapid progress, so University High School may be represented in the orchestra contests next year. An ensemble composed of seniors played for the second annual class night exercises.

ANOTHER year of history is in the records of Thalian, the girls' debating society. The girls opened the year with Rhoda Van Huss serving the first term as president. The first social event of the year was the annual fall weiner roast. This time it was held at Dorothy Ann Taylor's cottage at Lake Bloomington. Mr. and Mrs. Barger and Dr. and Mrs. Hamrin were the chaperones for the pleasurable affair.

In December of 1935, the first Thalian-Rostrum debate was held. On this question: Resolved: That the A. A. A. has been more beneficial than detrimental to the people of the United States, Betty Boulton and Elizabeth Ratcliffe, upheld the affirmative. They were, however, defeated by a 2-1 decision in a very close contest.

During the second term, Elizabeth Ratcliffe served as president of the society. The most important event of this regime was the Thalian Carnival. The money made on the carnival was used to pay for the spring banquet which is always one of the highlights of the year. This is held during the last part of the year and is the time when the Velma Horn Myer award is given to the girl who most exemplifies the spirit of the organization and is most active in her school work. The name of the recipient is kept a secret until the night of the presentation.

The other high spot of the term was the initiation of new members. This year it was held at Lois Fuller's home and six neophytes were initiated.

Betty Boulton was elected president for the final term. The banquet was held at Roland's tea room, on the twenty-third of May. Dr. and Mrs. Hamrin, Mr. and Mrs. Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. Myer, and Mr. and Mrs. Barger were guests.

The spring Thalian-Rostrum debate was on the eighteenth of May. Faye Watson and Lois Fuller represented Thalian in the contest.

The last meeting of the year was the traditional spread at which Mr. and Mrs. Barger furnished the ice cream, and the three presidents provided the cake. With this treat ends Thalian's history each year and so we are again putting aside the scroll with many happy memories.

First row: Fuller, Ratcliffe, Graves, Brinegar, Harvey, Sorrenson, Parret. Second row: Stover, Blakeman, Wierman, Boulton, Ireland, Lanigan. Third row: Van Huss, Taylor, Barger, Watson, Holley.

CARRYING on its tradition of furnishing outstanding extra-curricular activities and social events for its members, Rostrum continued in 1935-36 to be one of the most progressive societies in University high school.

Rostrum opened its school year with a weiner roast held at Lake Bloomington. All members were present and Dr. S. A. Hamrin, Rostrum sponsor, had charge of the group.

The next event of the year was the annual fall debate between Rostrum and Thalian. The question for debate was: Resolved, that the Agricultural Adjustment Act is more beneficial than detrimental to the citizens of the United States (constitutionality not to be discussed). George Brinegar and Richard Dunn upheld the negative for Rostrum, Thalian upholding the affirmative. Judges, from Illinois Wesleyan University, cast a 2-1 decision in favor of Rostrum. This was the second consecutive time that the boys had won the cup.

In January, the society held its first mid-year banquet at Hotel Tilden-Hall in Bloomington. Mr. Pringle, former sponsor for twenty-two years, and Miss Ruth V. Yates, present sponsor, were guests at the banquet.

On May 30 the boys held their annual spring banquet at the St.Nicholas Hotel in Decatur. This "get together" was the crowning and closing event of the club's school year.

During the season the debating club took in seventeen new members. Three seniors, Tommy Carter, George Brinegar, and Charles Harper each served a term as president of the society.

Dr. S. A. Hamrin was selected as sponsor of Rostrum after the retirement of Mr. Pringle. Because of extra duties Dr. Hamrin was obliged to resign, and Miss Ruth V. Yates, supervising teacher in speech, became the new adviser.

THE first meeting of the Green and Gold Home Economics Club of University High School, for the school year of 1935-1936, was held in Room 7 on Monday, September 30. During the first meeting the officers for the semester were elected. They were: Charlotte Selders, president; Marjorie Feek, vice-president; Betty Lou Marcus, secretary; and Minnie Rachac, treasurer. The social, money-making, and program committees were also appointed.

On Saturday, November 9, the club sent Charlotte Selders and Betty Hamilton, as delegates to the Home Economics Convention in Chicago. Miss Bernice Tucker, the sponsor, accompanied them. They attended the meetings and other places of interest.

A Christmas party was held on Saturday evening, December 14, in the gymnasium at the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Children's School. All members and their guests were invited. The evening was spent in dancing, games, and card planing.

The officers for the second semester were elected on January 20, 1936. They were: Claudine Berthlett, president; Betty Hamilton, vice-president; Charlotte Selders, secretary; and Georgianna Svetly, treasurer.

In the Junior Circus the Home Economics Club participated by selling candy, peanuts, and pop-corn to the many who attended.

May 9 was the date set for the last party of the year which was held in the Old Castle Gymnasium.

The Illinois State Normal University Home Economics Club sponsored a Home Economics Day on May 16. The club of University High School assisted them by acting as hostesses.

It is with a sense of pleasure and pride that we look back upon the work of our club for the year 1935-1936.

In effecting the organization of a high school science club, the concerned students chose to name after one of the first and most notable instructors connected with the university's science department. Hence, the year-old group bears the name, "The Major Powell Science Club."

Furthering the spirit that made Major Powell one of the foremost scientific collectors of his time, the members of the club divided themselves into small groups, and, under the direction of Dr. Blanche McAvoy, sponsor and class critic, pursued elected projects. These projects included numerous informational scientific fields. During the fall semester, this group made several entries of displays in a non-competitive exhibit in the State Junior Academy of Science, which meeting was held in Bloomington, Illinois. The contacts made and the diverse displays shown at the Academy assemblage proved to be stimulating and instructive.

Again in the spring, members and their sponsor journeyed to Quincy, Illinois, to enter displays in the competitive contest sponsored by the State Academy. One first place and not a few minor honors were given to the Major Powell Club's representatives. While in attendance at this session, University High representatives accompanied the Academy-guided field tours.

The social event of the club was in the form of a picnic held at Lake Bloomington. Charles Harper, president-elect for the initial year, was superseded by Roger Stauffer. While still in formative stage, it cannot be denied that this organization has accomplished no mean objective; and its remaining members look forward to the oncoming year with an eagerness characteristic only of young scientists.

THE Commerce Club of University High School has met every other week throughout the year. Varied programs have been given. Talks were given by quests of the club on dependability, insurance, law in commerce, and forgery. Programs presented by members of the club included an orginal play, "Applying for a Job," written by members of the senior shorthand class and presented before one of the I. S. N. U. classes; (The cast of characters was Robert Stephens, Virginia Quin, Marjorie Feek, Feligia Damato, Myrtle McGuire, and Faye Watson.), a debate by Mary Fran Brown and Faye Watson, a discussion by Betty Scott, Bonnie Meers, and Esther Deaton, of the book, "She Strives to Conquer"; the reading of the play, "A Dollar Down," and a play entitled "The Dotted Line" by Maurice Vincent, Edith Anders, and William Whitehouse. Programs of music were given by Rae Worthington and Herbert Riley. The personal typing class entertained the club one day with readings and music.

One party was held in the Old Castle Gymnasium. This was in the nature of a track meet between two rival schools. The Commerce club took charge of the crowning of the queen for the Junior Circus.

The officers for the first semester were: President, Myrtle McGuire; Vice-president, Mary Fran Brown; Secretary, Betty Scott; Treasurer, Gordon Cushman; Reporter, Vincent Hare. For the second semester the officers are: President, Charles Miller; Vice-president, Betty Scott; Secretary, Mary Fran Brown; Gordon Cushman, Treasurer; and Flavel Evans, Reporter. Miss Mary D. Webb is the sponsor.
